THE THEATRES

POLI'S

Funny, nimble, dancing Pat Rooney is at Poli's theatre all of this week with his clever company of fifteen charming girls and stupendous scenic charming girls and stupendous scenic effects in "Simple Simon Simple." This piece was played all over the country with great success by Nixon & Zimmerman and all of the biggest hits of the production have been condensed into one big act as a special vehicle to display Pat Rooney's talents. Every one who has seen him before know his ability to dance, sing and cut up. For a half hour he provides one continuous laugh assisted by George Thornton as the comical little darky "Mose."

A genuine novelty is the added feature of the bill. It is Tom Butler's latest novelty presenting Isabelle Butler and Erward Bassett, champion ice skaters of the world in "Skating on Heal Ice." This attraction carries its own ice making plant and constructs a pend of ice upon the stage for each performance. The act is one that has never been seen in vaudeville before and should prove most entertaining.

A special feature is Mr. Everett Butterfield who is well known to the theatre going public in this city as a member of Poli's stock company. He is being favorably received in vaudeville with his new song series. His scores of friends in this city will undoubtedly pay him a visit during the week. His vaudeville skit is original and he will prove one of the pleasing attractions of the bill.

The other offerings on the bill will be: The Musical Johnstons, a splendid novelty that has met with app wherever heard; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Emmett, California's premier ventrilo-quists; Harry First & Co., presenting a one act comedy sketch, "The Mar-riage Fee;" Sid Baxter, Scotland's cy-cle marvel, riding a bicycle on a small wire in midair; and new motion plc-ure films on the Electrograph.

SMITH'S

The scenes of "The Golden Butterfly" the new DeKoven and Smith comic opera which Grace Van Studdiford and a company of over eighty people will sing this evening are laid in romantic Buda Pesth, on the banks of the Dan-ube, and the music has a delightful Bohemian tinge. Miss Van Studdiford will come here direct from the Broadway Theatre, New York, where she has been appearing in "The Golden Butterfly" before capacity audiences for many weeks.

For two Tuesday evening's, commencing to-morrow, and one Thursday evening. Fred Niblo, the American humorist-tourist, will give a series of "Talks of Travel in Distant Lands". The subject of Mr. Niblo's first talk to-morrow evening, will be "Africa, from the Cape to Cairo," touching in picture and story all of the territory which Mr. Roosevelt will traverse in his great tour of extermination. These travel talks—graphically illustrated in color and motion pictures—will be very educational, entertaining, replete with color and motion pictures—will be very educational, entertaining, replete with heart interest and yet very humorous. Not alone the lover of travel in foreign lands, the tourist; the book reader; but the young and old students can profit by Mr. Niblo's Africa talk, and those who delight in clever witticisms, dolly stories and bright descriptions will be delighted auditors. The secwill be delighted auditors. The sec-ond of the series to be given Thurs-day evening, April 29, will be on "Egypt from Cairo to Khartoum," and e third.
